Category:File archiving Category:Windows compression software Category:Windows archivers and compression-related utilitiesQ: Using vb.net, is there an easy way to find out if a file exists in the server's directory? I'm wanting to check if a file exists in my server's directory before copying the file over. Is there an easy way to do this? A: this should work.. try to be sure the file really exists before copying If Not System.IO.File.Exists(filePath) Then Throw New ArgumentException("File does not exist.", "filePath") Else Dim destPath As String = Path.Combine(Path.GetDirectoryName(filePath), "DestinationDirectory") If Not System.IO.Directory.Exists(destPath) Then System.IO.Directory.CreateDirectory(destPath) End If System.IO.File.Copy(filePath, destPath, True) End If
